Organisation Context

MidCentral District Health Board (MDHB) is advancing through transformational change programme to firmly establish itself as a high performing health system that meets the current and future demands of its communities.

A key component of the transformation change programme is the implementation of the Integrated Service Model – the vehicle by which MDHB will implement the DHB’s strategy (displayed at Appendix B). At maturity, the Integrated Service Model will deliver an integrated health and social care system that ensures individuals, patients, family/whanau and communities are the centre of everything we do.

The transformation will provide an improved service experience and a work environment where staff feel valued and empowered to carry out their work with excellence.

MDHB will continue to transform its specialist and hospital services, improving patient experience, decreasing length of stay, improving productivity in theatres, and managing demand. Quality improvement, patient and consumer engagement, evidence based decision making, integration with primary and community services and clinical leadership will be key areas of focus.

MDHB will increasingly look to work with intersectoral partners to improve the health and wellbeing of its community, with particular reference to vulnerable and high needs population groups.

To achieve this transformational change, MDHB needs to support clinicians and provider agencies to develop new ways of working together. This will require MDHB to develop new relationships, new systems and new capabilities. This will be achieved while continuing to meet the expectations of external stakeholders such as the Minister and Ministry with regards to priorities and performance.
